

The New York Times

No 'Lost' Left to Unravel, Fans Buy It Piece by Piece

Stephanie Diani for The New York Times

Fans posed with memorabilia from the show "Lost" at a weekend auction in Santa Monica, Calif.

The New York Times

Stephanie Diani for The New York Times

James Comisar, wearing a Hawaiian shirt and a straw hat, ultimately emerged the proud owner of a (very heavy) piece of television history by paying $3,000.

"Anything tightly related to that plane is going to emerge as iconic — the plane is the key to the whole show," said Mr. Comisar, who is a leading collector of TV memorabilia.